Marks and Mark Locations

Yellow and Orange Marks may be located anywhere on the lake, depending on wind strength and direction. Gates may or may not be used. When used, they will be for leeward rounding.

Race Courses

Windward-Leeward: Start, mark 1, mark 2, and finish. All marks taken to port.

Windward-Leeward with Gates: Start, mark 1, pass between leeward marks 2, and finish. You may round either leeward mark. When rounding one gate mark, you'll keep the mark to port; on the other, you'll leave it to starboard.

Course Boards

The race course is indicated by simple directions posted left to right by the race committee. The letter "O" is for orange; the letter "Y" is for yellow. In this case the orange mark is taken first, then the yellow. If there are two yellow marks, they're gates.

Start Sequence

We use a three-minute start sequence. Three minutes after your fleet flag goes up with a horn, the flag drops and the race starts. With two minutes to the start, the preparatory flag goes up; with one minute to the start, the prep flag comes down.
