Commodore's Corner - September 2011

September 4, 2011 4:29 pm

September is here and we hope the last days of super hot weather have passed by for 2011. And that makes it time to look forward to 2011 FALL SERIES!

Racing for many of us isn't as much about the big pressure to win as it is about having a scheduled time to get out and spend some times with some of our best friends doing one of our favorite things.

If you've ever thought, "I'm not ready to race.", check out the "Green Fleet" to find out more about ways to get out on the water on a regular basis, to join in the fun but to set aside some of the the "intensity" Green Fleets will be forming at BOTH Lake Pleasant or Tempe Town Lake.

And for the more competitive among us, or those of us that want to be, we also will have Introduction to Racing Class this month to help move you up the finishing place ladder.

Need crew? Want to crew? Check out the "Racer's Party" next Friday 9/9.

The power boats start winterizing after Labor Day...we start SAILING! This is OUR TIME of year!

p.s. How about those new membership cards, eh? Tap Brenda Shears, Roger Butterwick and Mike Ferring on the shoulder to say "Thanks!" for the nice work they did organizing and creating our new AYC Membership Cards!

Racing Party - Get New Crew! Find a Ride!

September 4, 2011 4:28 pm

Come out and show how you operate BETWEEN THE SHEETS!

Join us UP-town and meet the racing gang at McCormick and Schmicks on Camelback Rd. AYC will have run of a little side room and be free to mingle with the landlubbers as needed over the rest of the place.

## REMEMBER to BRING YOUR PARKING TICKET for VALIDATION!! ##

We will have PRIZES and FOOD, and I may let you have a bite of my nachos (if you are nice).

Who's invited?

- Rookie crew who want to find a ride,
- Seasoned salts who want to shop their wares to the highest bidder
- Maniacal Malevolent Skippers looking to fill a hole in their motley crew

- Peeps looking to see what all this racing thing is about (read = Green Fleet)
- Sailors looking to promote our fine sport among the land-locked masses.
- YOU!!

Prize #1 Best Crew Resume!

Prize #2 Best Skipper Presentation - (hope to have a projector and computer)

Prize #3 Most inspiring story of "worst for first" (crew or skipper)

Prize #4 Most representatives of ANY fleet (my discretion)

Even if you are set for boat and crew - git yer keel out here and Party like a Pirate! There is a AMC Movie Theatre next door, shopping across the street. Make a night of it with your buddies, significant other, or both!!

Also sounds like a good time for a: FLEET MEETING -
Buccaneers, PHRF, SPIN, Catalina 22, Thistles, Merits, Portsmouth, - YOU COULD BE A WINNER

September 4, 2011 4:27 pm

OPENING DAY T-SHIRTS! ORDER IN ADVANCE or BE LEFT OUT! Get your sporty, stylish and slightly plagiarised tee shirt proclaiming your support of this Eco-Friendly sport. $15 per shirt - $17 for XXL - PRE ORDER BEFORE SEPT 9 - or no shirt for U...a small qty will be there for purchase. Do not need to pre-pay - just email azexploder@hotmail.com size, mens or womans style, and qty of each BEFORE 9÷10÷2011.

GET READY!!!! The approach of Opening Day brings a bunch of excellent memories over the past 9 years I have been privileged to attend. The butterflies start gathering early as the high temps start to descend ever closer to the double digits ( and always 10 degrees cooler on the water).

Never one to be leading the fleet, so that pressure is not a factor. The excitement of competition, building teamwork, and hanging out with my sailing buddies who understand the want to be around the water, fiberglass, and squeezing every erg of power out of a panel of strings covered with saran wrap, it is what feeds our other soul.

September 24 and 25, 2011 will be the 53rd opening day of your little sailing club in the desert. As always, there will be people painting, sanding, drilling, and pounding out in the parking lot at dawn. There will be the sound of new sails crinkling in the breeze as they are hanked on the first time, the smell of new fiberglass (some from repairs and some from fresh from the mold boats), and bright sunlight reflected from freshly washed and waxed 40 year old hulls. As the start time approaches, some yahoo thinking it would be funny, pulls the string on the only cannon allowed in the fleet - and the race to the launch ramp begins.

Then the parade to the starting line, with some returning to the dock to pickup the jib sheets left on the back seat and to throw Dave Rawstrom a tow line so he can start the first race on time today. The sound of the first horn signalling the start of our proud tradition begins the quest - not to win it all - for most - but rather to meet some more lowly goals for the season.

#1 NO fiberglass damage

#2 No DFLs (depending on your upbringing - "Dead Freaking Last" for me)

#3 My crew will someday want to sail with me again

Now for the High Level Details:

- 9AM: the USCGA will be available for COURTESY inspections with a sticker for passing (better them than to get AzGFD courtesy inspection that gives you a signed certificate for NOT passing).

- 10AM: FIRE THE CANNONS! Official opening of 2011-12 season

- 5pm: Dinner will be following racing. It is always a great food, beautiful scenery, and good friends. Race recaps from the Race Committee and race strategy from those skippers who where successful, and those not so much.

- 6pm: Prizes awarded during dinner for some random and completely arbitrary reason that I don't even know yet.

REGISTER NOW on the web now and set your calendar those sailing days enjoying the great outdoors, or spend them mowing the lawn, painting the bathroom, or heaven forbid - sleeping in till noon....

Green Fleet – What’s That?

September 4, 2011 4:26 pm

Learn Sailing at Any Age!

The Green Fleet is for new or “Less Serious” racers!

Are you new to sailing or sailboat racing? Are you trying to build a new crew to campaign next year? Are you crew that wants some experience before stepping up to the big leagues? Do you like to go sail with friends but want a little less pressure? Is the most important thing on your boat your snacks?

Then the green fleet is for you! For those who don’t know me, I’m Rob Gibbs. I’m a US Sailing Certified Small Boat Instructor, a dinghie racer, a father of 2 and a husband of 1, and a guy who, up to this point, went sailing with his buddies and left the family at home. Now that the kids are bigger and the wife is willing, we’ve got a bigger boat and “have fun and learn something” attitude.

Together with Emory Heisler (at TTL) our goal with the Green Fleet is to lower the barriers to entry to the sport we have come to love. What that means to you is up to you! If you have kids and resisted racing with the family, no more excuses! If you want the opportunity to get out and practice in a safe, monitored environment without the pressure of racing, here’s your chance!

We’ll get together on Sat mornings (if you want) and introduce/review sailing concepts like Points of Sail & Trim. We’ll go over the Rules of the Road, how to start, what the course chart is here and what it might be somewhere else. If you have specific questions or topics you want covered, let me know!

Also, if you are crew and would like to secure a spot on one of the boats, please let me know. There are some open positions I know of right now and there might be more as the season goes on.

My email is RobDaSailor@gmail.com. For more information, check out the Green Fleet Page or just come sail with us!

Welcome New Members!

September 4, 2011 4:25 pm

A great new “class” of members have joined AYC in recent months, from High Schoolers to Power Boaters (are we on our way to creating a “Power Squadron?”).

Christina Andaloro joins us following a year with the Arizona Sailing Foundation High School Sailing Club. She is now a freshman in college, but started taking official lessons 6 years ago in Cape Cod MA. She looks forward to attaining instructor level certification and contributing to AYC through Club equipment maintenance, racing, and social activities.

Shawn Cook took the SSR class and loved it. He is a Mesa resident, is a Laser sailor, and has been spending a lot of time down at the lake. He is interested in Club equipment maintenance and assisting with racing activities.

Luke Marino is a Freshman at Washington High School and has been sailing for about 5 years – most recently through the High School Sailing Club and before that racing in Opti’s. In the last 2 High School championships his boat was 2nd place! His dad also sails. He is continuing to take sailing classes, is interested in racing and cruising, and looks forward to achieving instructor level certification.

Mary and Jeff Miller: The Millers split their time between Scottsdale and the White Mountains. Mary is a long-time real estate broker in Snowflake, and Jeff works in Phoenix for APS four days a week. They’ve had a decades-long interest in sailing, having owned a very small sailboat in 1979, but only recently got a little more serious about the sport by traveling to Marina del Rey with two of their adult children to obtain a Basic Keelboat Certification in May of this year. They’re looking forward to gaining more experience and knowledge as time/schedules allow – hopefully with retirement figured in there somewhere! – and appreciate the opportunity to be part of this club.

Cooper Miller: Cooper, 25, now has his ASA Basic Keelboat Certification and is looking forward to sailing involvement with AYC members, with a special interest in crewing for more experienced sailors. He recently graduated from the U of A in Mathematics with an emphasis in Probability and Statistics and is pursuing a new career even as he also splits his time between the White Mountains and Scottsdale, assisting with the family real estate business as a licensed agent. He’s a long-time snowboard instructor, as well, and welcomes any interested folks up to Sunrise Ski Park this winter! Cooper is also an avid mountain biker.

Jim Murphy, a Scottsdale resident, is interested in racing and in helping with AYC social events. Jim has been sailing “all his life.” And his son Garrison has taken the High School Sailing class.

Randy, Tara, and Elliot Odman: The Odmans have extensive boating experience, but are new to sailing, thanks to the interest of son Elliot. Elliot sails in the high school program and just purchased his first boat, a sunfish, this winter. They are Mesa residents and interested in helping with new member support and racing.

Richard, Naomi, and Lincoln Strand: Dick, a retired Radiologist, has recently rejoined the AYC. His family consists of his wife Naomi, a son Nick who lives in NYC; daughter Natalie, living in Santa Monica; and an eight-year-old son Lincoln. Dick shares the following: "A few friends and I are just finishing the restoration of a 40 ft 1949 Matthew's wooden motor yacht, the Euphrates, and will be keeping her in Newport Beach. She is a beautiful old boat and should be capable of coastal cruising, Catalina Island etc. I am an occasional sailor and was a member of the Arizona Yacht Club many years ago. And speaking of reciprocity, in 1988, I went over to watch the America's Cup Race. The evening of the final race, I went to the San Diego Yacht Club, and using my Arizona Yacht Club membership card, got in and attended the victory celebration. I ended up sitting with Dennis Conner's mother!"

Buccaneer Championships - Route 66 Odyssey

September 4, 2011 4:24 pm

Dave Rawstrom, Rob Gibbs and Emory Heisler journeyed 30 hours straight-through from AZ to Chicago in a 2000 "Exploder" for Buccaneer 18 North American Championships in Kenosha, WI. Not to worry, Dave, Rob and Emory are still friends.

T-minus 5 days to BNAC: Thanks to Nickel's Boats stackable trailer design we stack 4 Bucc's on 2 trailers. Thank you TTL passer by helpers for extra hands!

And they're off! Yee Old Exploder is packed and trailers are stacked. On to Route 66: Desert, pine trees, high desert plains and we are there. Route 66. Did we get some kicks? No! What did we get?

Painted Desert, nothing, storms, nothing, New Mexico. More storms, more nothing, Texas. Nothing, 200 foot tall cross, trailer flat, nothing, Oklahoma. Sunrise over the one tree in OK.

Oklahoma City, toll booths, nothing, toll booths, nothing, Missouri. Fireworks Superstore, Adult Bookstores, tornado-flattened Joplin, nothing, Girls-Girls-Girls, nothing, St. Louis. Mississippi River, Illinois, corn, corn, corn, Chicago. Hotel, toll booths, toll booths, KENOSHA! That's it in a nutshell.

It was the first time for all of us to visit Kenosha Wisconsin, first time in Dave's lifetime setting foot in the state and his 3rd time sailing on lake Michigan, loved the waves!

KYC and Kenosha downtown have great small town character, cool shops (especially for tuxedos), ice cream, good restaurants (mmm... german food) , a real 24 hour Diner, free museum with mammoths, electric trolley ride, and this year a destination regatta.

Burgee Exchange

Monday's welcome dinner of Brats and Beer was followed by the fastest national membership meeting ever, and was paired with a separate crew party that improved crew morale and left a few sleeping it off in the parking lot.

Racing had everything you could ask for, good predictable winds, time between races for siesta, swimming, chicken toss, water gun battle royale, and competitive group races.

A typical mixture of great breeze, too much breeze, no breeze was combined with equally varied flat water, wind chop on 4 ft. swells, and lazy doldrum filled swells as well.

The RC/PRO had some challenges and reminded us about just how good we've got it in AYC racing. The Buccaneer Class Association learned some lessons and the PRO and racers figured out the local traditions. RC will be fantastic next time we visit.

Kevin & Big Dave (aka Maltbie-Brown)

Surprise guests arrived Thursday, Maltbie and Brown BNAC 1 winners. They won BNAC #1 in a borrowed boat but sailed Dave Rawstrom's boat for their visit this year.

Blind Squirrel party: John welcomed us pirates to his home, really! Blind Squirrel's combine vodka, Coors light and mystery ingredients. Truly an effective tonic. Buccaneers celebrated with Food, fun, hot tub, and a slide that ejects into the bushes. We have a buccaneer member who owns a real lighthouse, cool!!!

Ed & Shannon Montañó

Our hosts Ed and Shannon are a serious "power couple," hospitality, organization, mix-ology expertise, Puerto Rican sandals, and charm. Thanks for a incredibly fun visit to your home town.

And then, back to Route 66 and 35 more straight-through hours in the Exploder for Dave and Emory. The return run took a slight detour through Kansas, accompanied by an eclectic mix of power ballads on the iPod.

After 65 hours on the road together, even better friends.

ARRRR!! (hold the "gh")

Dave Rawstrom, #5205, "Red Fish, Blue Fish"
Emory Heisler, #5239, "Erin Morgan"

Kinnikinick - 2011 "Escape to Pine Mountain"

September 4, 2011 4:23 pm

Some of the Summer Seasy Sailing Crew at Lake Kinnikinick representing the Tucson Sailing Club during the Arizona Yacht Club and Lake Pleasant Sailing Clubs annual Summer Campout in Northern Arizona.

Kinnikinick Campout

Frank Patena & Ms. Glenn Boosted, Alan Bergard and I spent the weekend sailing the Lasers at Kinnikinick Lake, an out-of-the-way potaneseque lake at 8,000 feet just south and east of Flagstaff. We joined the Arizona Yacht Club and the Lake Pleasant Sailing Club for the AYCS annual summer retreat to the cool country. The camp in the pines was six miles into the back country on a dirt road. The drive passed through large open meadows filled with wildflowers and sweeping views of the San Francisco Peaks. The lake located below the camp is piñon & juniper forest filled a large open meadow. The 1612 knot breeze with puffs offered a great afternoon of sailing with long runs downwind on fast planes. The water temperature was in the high 70's which was good as we all had a swim or two. The evening was spent around a large campfire, great fun, and the night sleeping under the stars with the Pinedad water shower providing the show and, a four a.m. wake up call courtesy of a pack of Coyotes. Glenn provided the hot, strong coffee and a cool morning was spent watching the sun hit the tops of the Ponderosa pines and listening to the forest wake up. On the return drive we took the Shoeman Lake Road to I-17. A 18 mile primitive road which, prior to dropping into the Verde Valley, ran along the edge of the fire providing a great view of the red cliffs of Sedona. Next year if possible, all attendees agreed, five days should be the minimum stay to walk, hike and sail this beautiful country.

For more about 2011 Kinnikinick check out this story from the Tucson Sailing Club. They and Lake Pleasant Sailing Club joined this year's AYCS annual campout in the woods, the Kinnikinick weekend, and Peter Burgard snapped some pictures and wrote some words and published them in the club's newsletter. Kinnikinick Campout 2011
Cruising Captain - Mike Parker

The 2011 "Escape to Pine Mountain" was a huge event for my family. It was our first scheduled opportunity to escape the heat, the traffic, and the playstation in the valley of the SUN. Not that the event as a whole was so huge, but getting my kids away from the TV was virtually miraculous. Many obstacles had to be overcome. Things like sudden onset of a ailment requiring proximity to a bathroom, to queasy carsick feelings of the back row passengers in a SUV crammed with six people, camping gear, chairs, outdoor games, and a midsized dog. All of it resolved with patience, no schedule, and the first potty stop at 6500 feet and 80 degree sunshine.

We arrived as scheduled - Saturday sometime. There where already some adventurous and practiced campers setup in the area with sailing burghy and race mark signalling their territory and that we where in the right place. Paper plates guiding the way to the fresh and clean porta-potties spaced out around some shady and pine needle covered tent spots. We picked up a mooring... i mean, a camp spot upwind of the potty, and the kids took off into the woods like oil dripped on water. No video games, music players, or fighting over computer time... it was just about heaven.

After unloading the gear and making lunch - amazing how the kids will wander back just as you are finishing food prep - we were joined by helpful (and hungry) kids from the already established camps. Tents setup, camp gear stowed, we set off to mingle with the others already playing horse shoes and relaxing in the cool shade around the fire pit.

Members of Lake Pleasant Sailing Club, Arizona Yacht Club, and Tucson Sailing club were all strewn about the gentle slope in all sizes of tents, camp trailers, and vans. Ahhh, such a heart warming - cool weather - sight!

A few hearty sailors who took a stack of Lasers to the lake for some afternoon sailing while most others took a nice nap. The winds must have been perfect, since one of the sailors related that he had never gone so fast in a laser before. It's amazing what a "Fresh" breeze and no hills to funnel the wind can do for you. Later in the afternoon, while relaxing and getting to know some of our TSC and LPSC brethren, our attention was drawn to the table where piles of shish kebabs, pots of corn, and plates of veggies and sides where being dropped from campers all around. Dinner was imminent. And from the looks of things, it was going to be an amazing feast. Off to camp, we brought out offering, including another table to pile the overflowing food (and adult beverages).

And it was an amazing feast. Of course, my kids only ate the hot dogs and way too many sm'ores cooked over the sensible and warming campfire, but that is OK, more kabobs for me.

All - in - all, about 60 people made up the campout this year. Perhaps it was a light turnout for the annual event. But it was fun, and we got to meet some very friendly people who were there to have a good time in the peace and quiet - and coolness - of the not so distant forest. I have always had to move mountains to make it to the mountains, but once I get there, the people, the peace, and the separation of all things buzzing and chirping always make it worth the effort.

Fleet of the Month - Buccaneer 18

September 4, 2011 4:22 pm

Buccaneer Fleet

ARRRRR!!!! The pirates of AYC! The Buccaneer 18 fleet is the only one-design fleet that gives you a three-sail boat (main, jib and spinnaker) and the option to sail with fleets at both Tempe Town Lake and Lake Pleasant. The Buccs also make regular excursions to join other Buccs in San Diego (March, August), Long Beach (May, November) and elsewhere around the country.

There are over 20 Buccaneer 18s in Arizona, and half of those racing, so whether you're a new recruit or "salty dog" we have lots of sailors to compete with at your level so you can improve your sailing and have a great time doing it.

To learn more about getting a Buccaneer 18 or crewing on one, contact one of the pirates listed below or see the National Bucc Site or the Yahoo! group. The AYC Buccaneer fleet is ready to offer lots of help for anyone who would like to join the raiding party.

2011 Heat Stroke Final Scores

September 4, 2011 4:21 pm

Sunday, 4

110 | 83 °F

Clear

Here are the results of the 2011 Heat Stroke series scores, with throw-outs. Congratulations!

Oddly, participation dropped off as the mercury rose. By the time we reached the dreaded dog daze of August, there were just two or three boats on the race course and often as many people on race committee.

Congratulations to all the stalwarts who braved heat exhaustion to go sailing and to the fleet winners:

Emory Heisler, Buccaneer;

Mike & Maryellen Ferring, C14;

Mike Bernard, Laser;

Clay Poulson, Portsmouth (in whatever he happened to bring to the lake that day).
